

caillou

Book 5-4

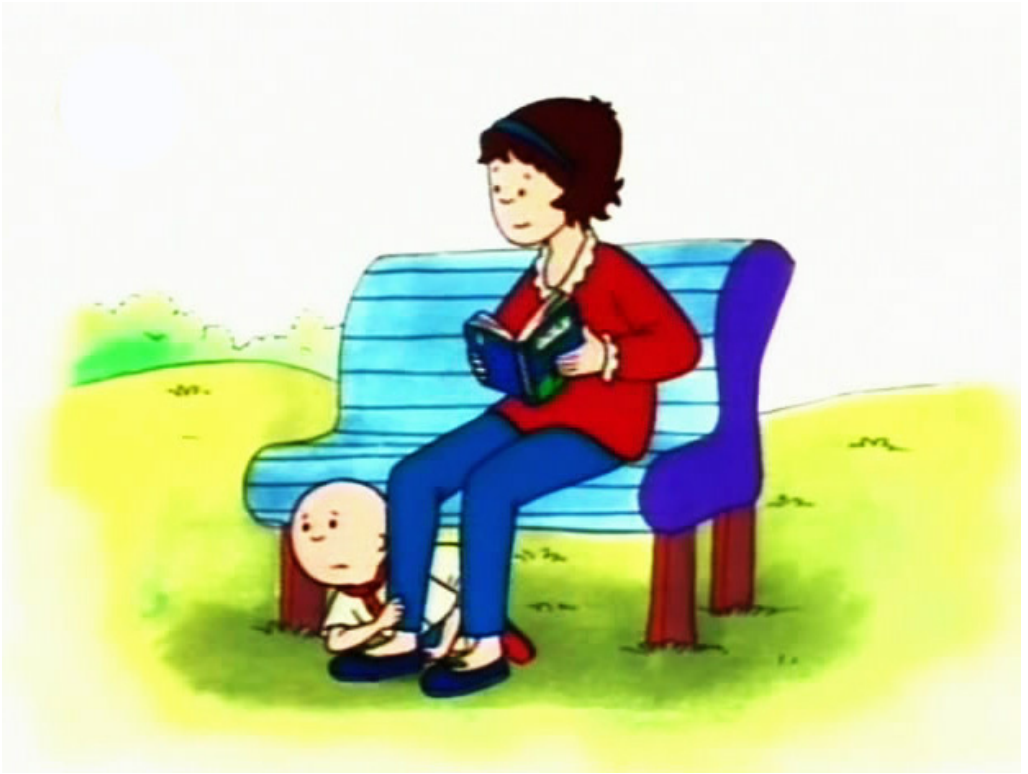

Storyteller: How about a story, kids? This story is called "Caillou is Scared of Dogs".

Caillou: I'm gonna build the biggest castle ever. Done.

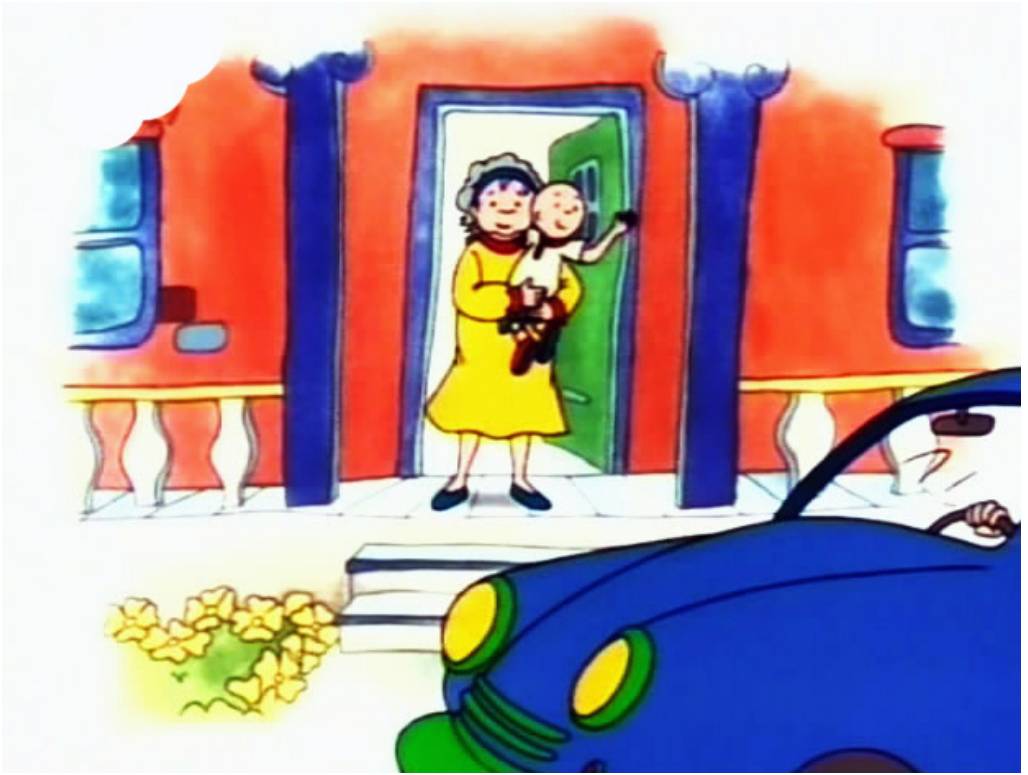

Storyteller: Caillou was scared. The dog sounded angry.

Caillou: Mommy! Mommy. Mommy.

Mommy: Caillou, what's the matter?

Caillou: That doggie scared me.

Storyteller: The next day, Caillou was looking forward to going to his Grandma's while Mommy did some shopping. But Caillou and his Mommy didn't know that Grandma was looking after her neighbour's puppy for the day.

Grandma: I have a special friend staying with me. Would you like to meet him?

Caillou: Yes, please.

Grandma: Caillou. Don't worry, Caillou. That's my special friend. I really think he'd like to meet you.

Caillou: No.

Grandma: But Caillou, he's only a little puppy. Why don't you just come and see? I promise he won't hurt you.

Caillou: Well, okay.

Grandma: See, Caillou? He's only a little puppy. And he's very friendly.

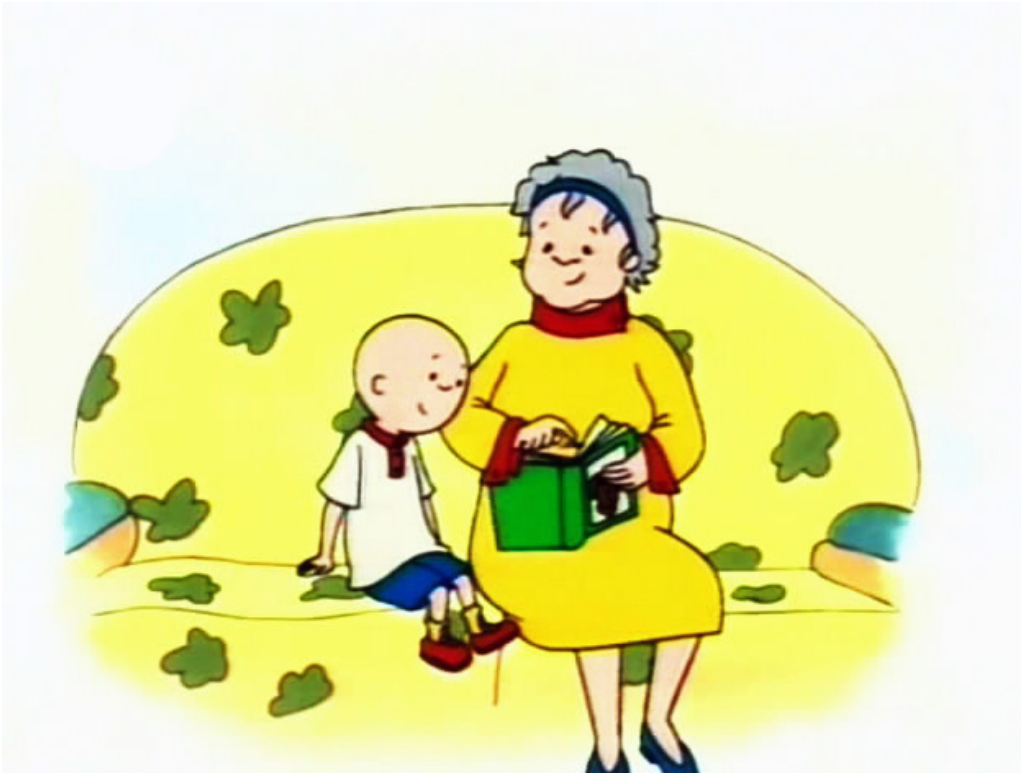

Caillou: Yes, Grandma.

Grandma: Well, if you're scared, why don't we shut the door so he can't get out? Okay?

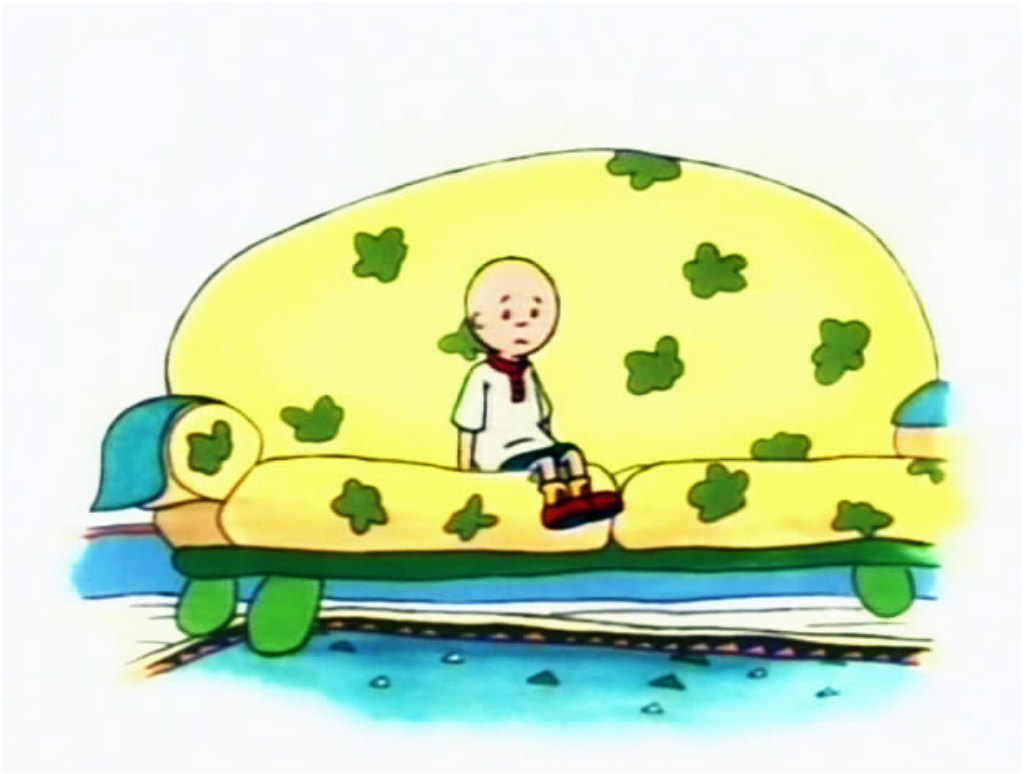

Caillou: Okay.

Storyteller: Caillou was still a bit nervous, even though he knew the puppy was safely in the kitchen.

Grandma: Oh honey, it's okay. Hey. I have an idea. Let's read a book about dogs.

Storyteller: Caillou was enjoying reading about dogs with Grandma. And he was beginning to be curious about that little puppy in the kitchen.

Caillou: He's barking, Grandma.

Grandma: We'd better go see what he wants, don't you think?

Caillou: Maybe he's hungry.

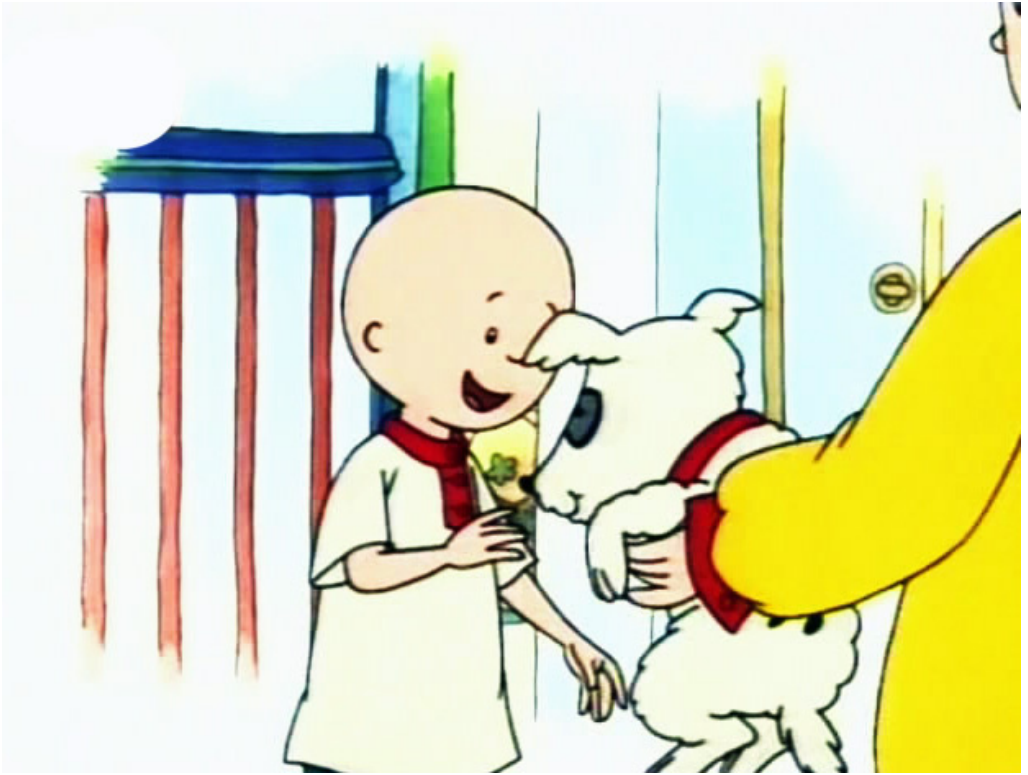

Grandma: Who's a good boy then? Are you hungry? Here's a treat. You like that, don't you?

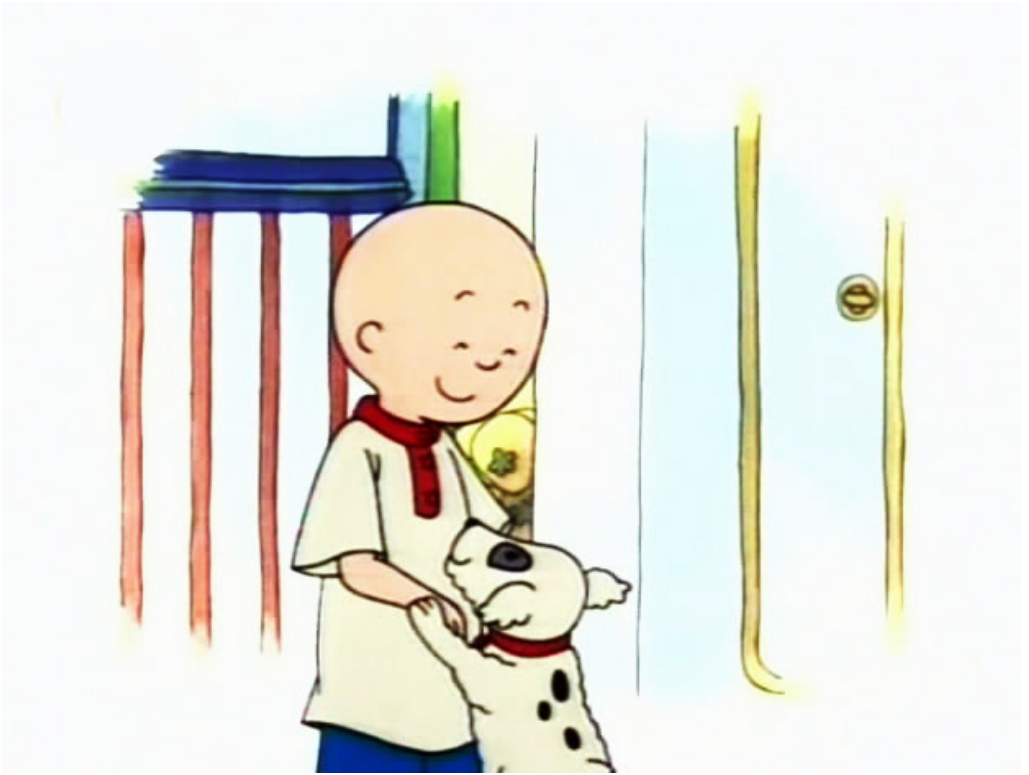

Storyteller: Caillou was still a bit nervous. But when he heard his Grandma he decided he really wanted to see the little puppy again.

Grandma: What's so funny, Caillou?

Caillou: He looks like one of Mommy's slippers.

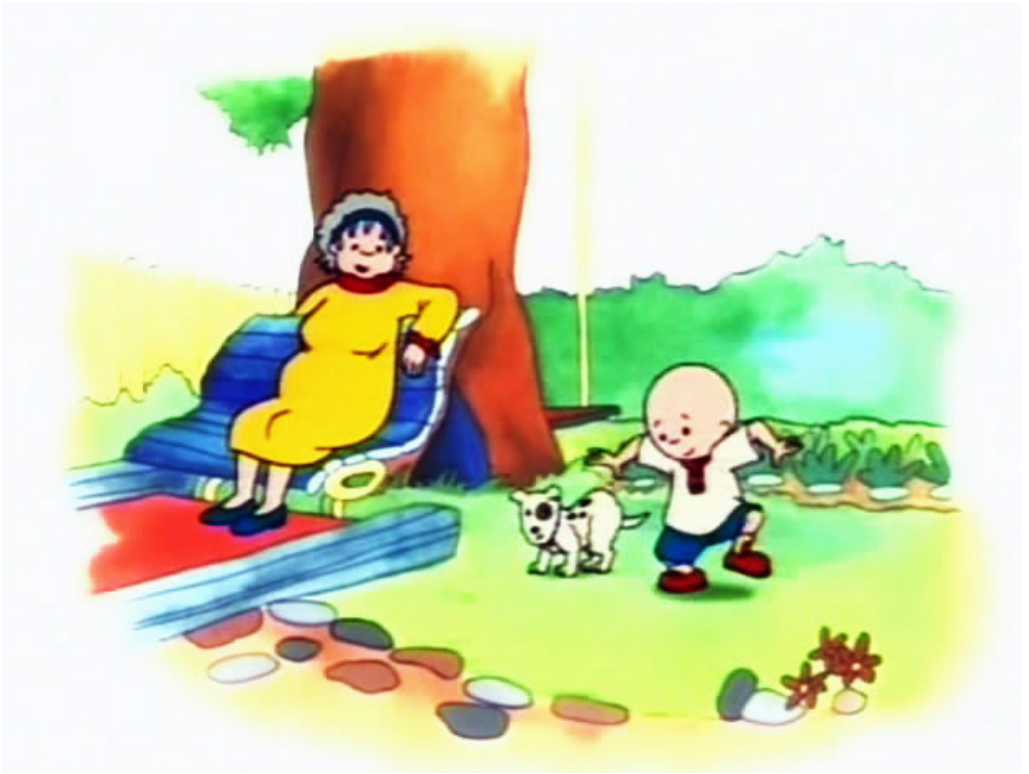

Grandma: See, Caillou? He wants to be your friend. He's wagging his tail. It means he's happy to see you. If you hold out your hand, he'll say hello.

Caillou: That tickles.

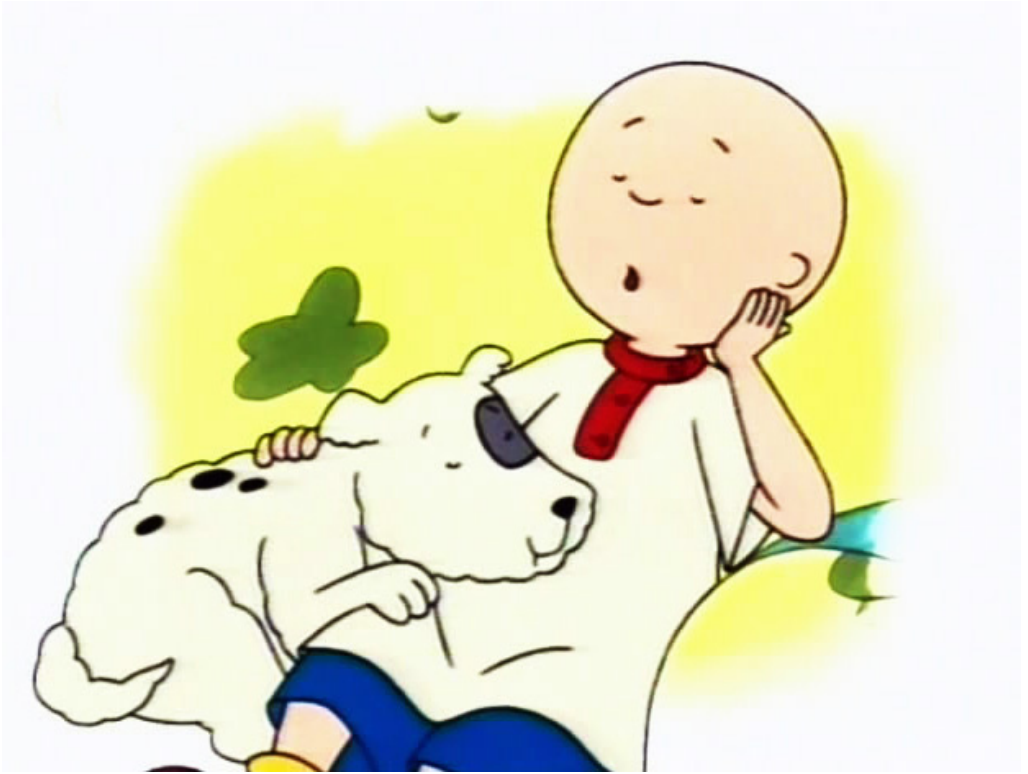

Grandma: I think you've made a new friend, Caillou.

Caillou: Hi, doggie.

Storyteller: What do you know? The puppy wasn't scary at all, but friendly and fuzzy and fun.

Caillou: Get it, boy. Good boy. Catch.

Grandma: Shh..., look.

Caillou: Look, Mommy. I like doggies now.
